Industriada to jedno najwspanialszych wydarzeń promujących dziedzictwo kultury przemysłowej województwa śląskiego, a Pszczyna dzięki Muzeum Prasy Śląskiej im. Wojciecha Korfantego jest częścią Szlaku Zabytków Techniki.

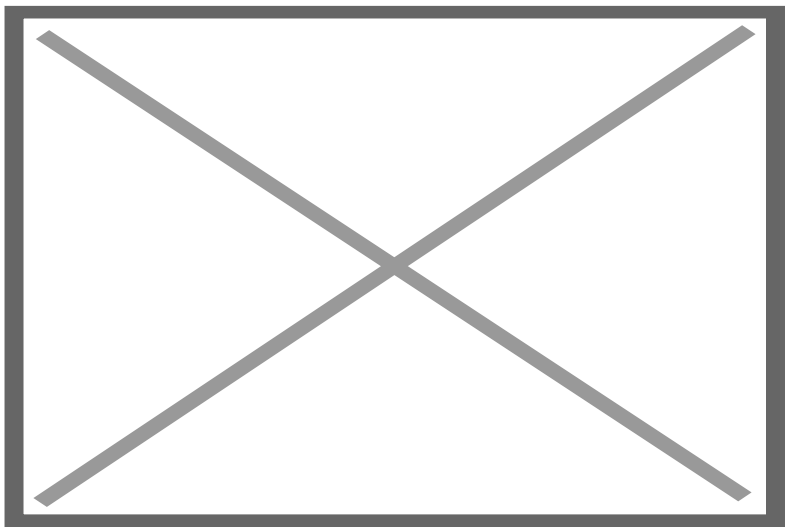

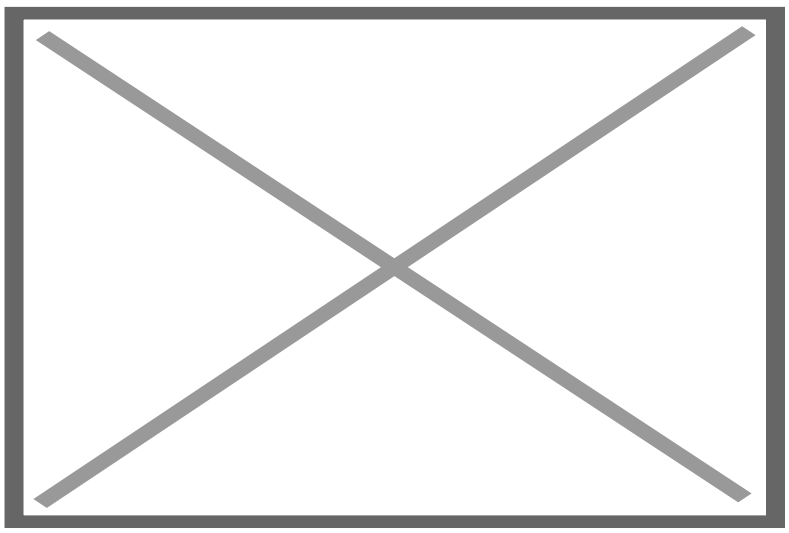

W sobotę, 3 września nasze miasto było gospodarzem wojewódzkiego finału Industriady. Z tej okazji przygotowanych zostało wiele atrakcji. Mieszkańcy i turyści mogli nie tylko wziąć udział w ciekawym zwiedzaniu muzeum, ale także spróbować swoich sił i umiejętności w różnego rodzaju warsztatach. Przygotowano również pokazy i poczęstunek. Industriadzie towarzyszył też rajd rowerowy.

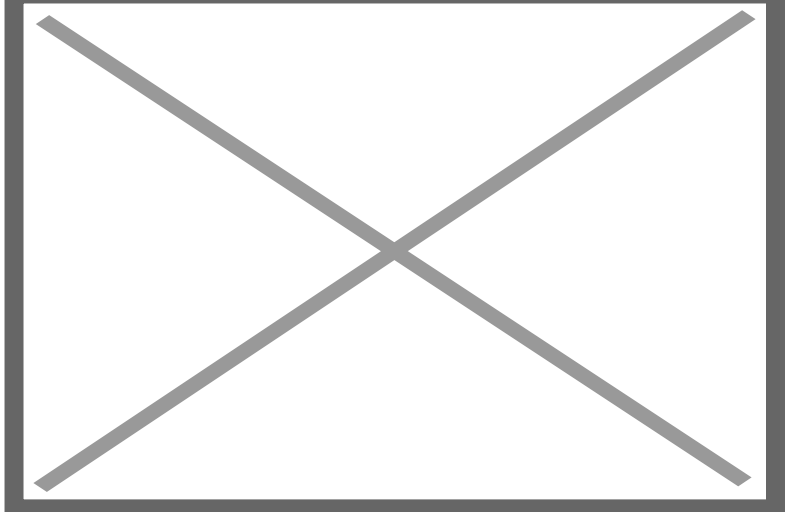

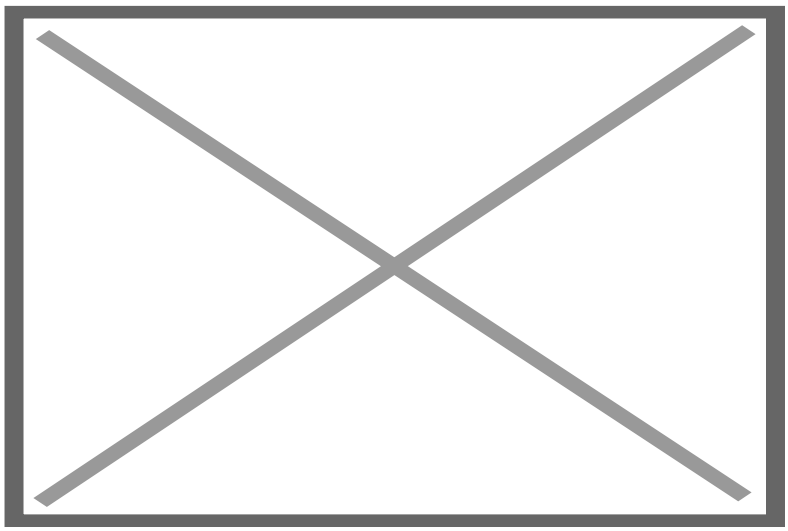

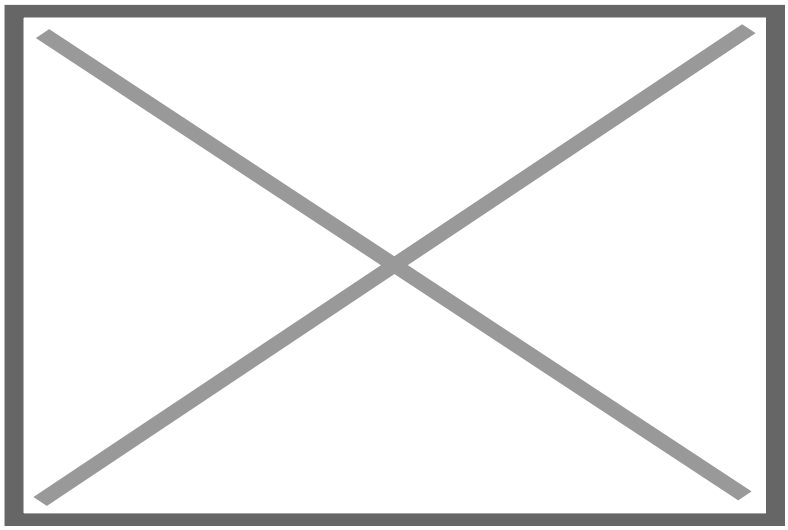

Wieczorem na scenie na rynku odbył się koncert uwielbianej Teresy Werner. Przez blisko dwie godziny artystka śpiewała wspólnie z licznie zgromadzoną pod sceną z publicznością. Nie zabrakło wiernych fanów Teresy Werner, którzy do Pszczyny przyjechali dla niej z Dolnego Śląska i Mazur. Ostatnim punktem był widowiskowy spektakl Teatru Ognia NAM-TARA.

- Pragnę podziękować organizatorom tegorocznego wydarzenia. Podziękowania w szczególności dla Muzeum Prasy Śląskiej w Pszczynie, marszałka województwa śląskiego Jakuba Chełstowskiego oraz dla wszystkich artystów i wolontariuszy wspierających promocję i popularyzację dziedzictwa kultury przemysłowej województwa śląskiego - powiedział podczas finału burmistrz Dariusz Skrobol.
